“BUILDING BRIDGES”

In Cooperation with

WELCOME

Dear colleagues and friends,

We cordially invite you to the upcoming aesthetic spring meeting in Berlin, which will be a joint meeting of VDAEPC and GBAM.

In the past 1.5 years, events and meetings were restricted, which made personal exchanges of our experiences difficult. We are all looking forward to meeting with our peers in person again to share knowledge and refine our techniques.

All this in a time when our field is experiencing a fast transformation. Many interventions can be simplified or replaced by less invasive techniques today. New procedures are appearing and call for revision of our views. To meet these challenges, to expand our view beyond national boundaries, and to re-build bridges, we are especially pleased to join hands once more with our colleagues from Brazil during GBAM 3. Brazil has a long history in the field of aesthetic surgery and is often a trendsetter in many ways.

We invite you to take advantage of an excellent opportunity to expand your contacts and clinical experiences, to see other perspectives, and to discuss classic techniques in the light of different approaches and solutions. All this in the unique atmosphere of the world-famous Adlon Hotel located next to the Brandenburg Gate.

We invite you and your colleagues from abroad to present your work and contribute to the traditional video session, which will be divided into a master class and a slam session with short presentations, giving you the opportunity to present your personal approach and experiences.

We all hope that conditions will allow us to meet in the springtime. We are very much looking forward to welcoming you to Berlin to explore current trends and controversies and to enjoy the company of globally recognized experts.

Warm regards,

Dr. Uwe von Fritschen
